

CHRISTENSEN'S PLANT CENTER

Wholesale Supplier To Landscape Professionals

Transporting nursery stock

As a customer running at breakneck speed, what happened to your plants en route?

The Plant Center takes pride in maintaining and loading your stock to ensure it's survival once on site. So many times contractors put themselves in a no-win scenario. You take the time to select all your items, but when loading times come, we at the Plant Center find sometimes not enough vehicle to load! Examples are: cars or SUVs that are too small for your selections, no loading straps, or no tarp to protect against damaging heat, winds and long travel times.

We know sometimes things naturally are out of control. Please don't bring a vehicle you or I cannot get plants in and out of without damage. Tarps are essential for protection against replacement costs of both time and money. Loading straps prevent tree ball roll-offs (and new plantings taking root in the M-14 passing lanes).

Putting you in the best position for success gives us pride and satisfaction. But when we see evergreens and or shade trees leaving our yard in an upright or unprotected way we only hope they will survive. Those kinds of salutes to our customer service are not necessary. A better way of transporting and protecting your customer's plant material is our mutual goal.

Please remember that we have a well stocked store with the items needed to help ensure plant sustainability.
